Laura began her career at Eccleston and Wolf as a law clerk in the summer of 2006, and returned as an attorney in September 2008, after completing a judicial clerkship with the Honorable Geoffrey M. Alprin in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. Laura's litigation practice concentrates on professional liability defense, with a focus on legal malpractice matters; and on defense of discrimination claims, primarily in the employment context, at both the administrative and judicial levels. She has also handles general liability matters, representing contractors, property managers, non-profit organizations, Homeowner's Associations (HOA), Community Organizations and Management Companies and others.
